

Dan Harper Photography Workshop: LW5-1

"An introduction to portraits using hot shoe flashes, studio lights, and natural light"

-Event: Lighting Workshop: LW5-1

-Date: Sunday, April 8, 2012

-Time: 1-5pm

-Location: Level 3 Studios: 301 - 290 McDermot Avenue

Pricing & information:

-"Early bird" pricing (register by March 30, 2012): $105* (price includes GST)

-Register on or after April 1, 2010: $157.50 (price includes GST)

*As a participant registering under the early bird pricing you must acknowledge that you may be called on to volunteer as a model for your group. If for any reason you cannot volunteer as a model, you must register under the normal pricing.

Information for participants:

This workshop concentrates on the learning process, and has as a secondary consideration shooting experience. So, after the teaching portion of the workshop, participants will break into three groups where they will get the chance to use what they learned in the workshop to shoot using natural light, studio flashes and hot shoe flashes.

There will be a model in one of three shooting positions and for the other two positions, participants will use members of the group as their model. This is a much more informal and fun way of shooting in groups and will also help participants understand better how to direct a model, by becoming one themselves.
